Kindergarten

Educational Philosophy Statement:

My Educational Philosophy is that all students can learn, but at different paces through different medias. I can talk to some students and model. I can have students use hands - on the object and model, or I can allow the student to touch and take apart the model.

I feel students should be in a safe learning environment (physically as well as academically). No one should touch another student or laugh at their responses. A teacher cannot teach everything but with the help of the parents/guardians all the help received between school and home will empower the child.

Last, but not least, I feel kindergarten is the first year a child will learn a basic foundation for everything that will be built upon in every future grade.
